a sharply observed study richly detailed portraits economist somini sengupta emigrated from calcutta to california as a young child in 1975 returning thirty years later as the bureau chief for the new york times she found a vastly different country one defined as much by aspiration and possibility at least by the illusion of possibility as it is by the structures of sex and caste the end of karma is an exploration of this new india through the lens of young people from different worlds a woman who becomes a maoist rebel a brother charged for the murder of his sister who had married the wrong man a woman who opposes her family and hopes to become a police officer driven by aspiration and thwarted at every step by state and society they are making new demands on india s democracy for equality of opportunity dignity for girls and civil liberties sengupta spotlights these stories of ordinary men and women weaving together a groundbreaking portrait of a country in turmoil mahabharata says ordinary men see through their eyes cows see by smell kings by spies and the learned men see through the scriptural knowledge we think of the world as we do in fact the world is different than the ways we see it most of our paradigms are inaccurate because we do not have all of the information we think we do but we don t when we receive additional or new information it often causes us to rethink and change our paradigm challenge your assumptions about yourself others situations and things the world transforms as you transform yourself the key to personal effectiveness is to change our paradigms our assumptions and the way we see the world
