this collection of articles confirms norman whybray s place as one of the foremost contributors to scholarship on wisdom literature in the last three decades of the twentieth century a former president of the society for old testament study and winner of the british academy's Burkitt Medal. Whybray wrote extensively on Proverbs and Ecclesiastes and his interests extended to Job, Ben Sira and wider areas of concern such as the relationship of wisdom to other Old Testament books and genres including a foreword by David Clines and an introduction by Katharine J. Dell. This collection brings together for the first time all of Norman Whybray's articles in this subject, thus not only inspiring afresh but also providing a useful resource for scholars interested in that enigmatic group of writings that make up the wisdom literature of the Old Testament.

This book is a collection of articles which were presented at the IInd International Linguistic Conference in Taganrog, Russia. The most interesting and the most important ideas and researches are represented. The book consists of five parts: historical linguistics, lexicology, grammar, pragmatics, ethnolinguistics and translation. In the first part there are articles of the Yenisseyic phenomenon from historical point of view by Prof. H. Werner, Germany; the role of mythology in linguistic researching; the diachronic approach to the typological analysis of mental vocabulary; the expression of possessivity in the Paleoasiatic languages; the diachrony of grammatical categories in different languages; historical linguistics and Lev Gumilev's theory of ethnogenesis. The second part deals with a concept-centered approach to the researching of the vocabulary on the base of cognitive theory. Some articles are devoted to the problems of lexicography. In the third part articles consider different grammatical problems, for example the problem of the zero sign by Pyotr Tshesnokov. The next part deals with problems of pragmalinguistics and the last part considers the questions of ethnolinguistics and translation as simultaneous interpreting, ethical concepts, formation of national linguo-cultural communities. The book appeals to philologists, teachers and students.
